
Celine Dion Sings Again 'The Beauty and the Beast'

20/01/2017

Los Angeles, Jan 20 (Prensa Latina) The American company Walt Disney will premiere next March "The Beauty and the Beast" in real action and the Canadian singer Celine Dion will sing the main song of the film, it was confirmed today.

In this way, Disney, considered one of the leaders of the world of entertainment, tries to cherish the success of its animation tape of 1991, whose original song was sang by Dion along with the American Peabo Bryson and won the Oscar to better song, a Golden Globe and three Grammys.

The female interpreter herself acknowledged that being part of the original movie 'The Beauty and the Beast' was a magical experience in her life, that soon enhanced her worldwide fame when she recorded the classic ballad 'My Heart Will Go On' for Titanic, directed by James Cameron.

Dion, a Canadian with more albums sold in the world, has recorded the new song for the feature film of real action of Disney, starring Emma Watson and Dan Stevens.

This work takes her back to the ballad and Alan Menken's composition, the same as the original film, to give nuances to the theme entitled 'How Does A Moment Last Forever', on how to preserve the most precious moments of life.

Because of marketing strategy, the song will be released next March 10, a week before the premiere of the film.
