The work was chosen through a contest of the website for high-quality political cartoons and comic journalism, for World Refugee Day, in which artists from the United States, Brazil, Spain, Jordan, Italy, the Netherlands, Portugal, and Cuba participated.

Osval told the digital newspaper Invasor that his work reflects how the borders divide humanity and make people less human.

Gutiérrez also holds the Public Award, the Cultural Center Pablo de la Torriente Award and a mention in the category of Political Satire, with the work Equipaje (Luggage), also on the emigrants, during the 20th International Biennial of Graphic Humor in San Antonio de Los Baños.

The prominent caricaturist lives in the central province of Ciego de Avila, about 430 kilometers east of Havana, and works as a photojournalist for the Cuban News Agency.
