

Round Two of Cuba-EU Talks Aug. 27-28

15/08/2014

Representatives of Cuba and the European Union meet in Brussels on August 27 and 28 for the second round of negotiations for the signing of a new pact that will include aspects of political dialogue, cooperation and trade, said European authorities.

The talks are expected to take place every two months, with informal contacts through e-mails, phone calls or video conferencing in between the face-to-face sessions.

The first meeting took place in Havana on April 29-30, when Cuba and the EU agreed on a roadmap for the negotiation process and stipulated the general structure of the future agreement.
