Havana, May 7 (RHC)-- Dr. Roberto Morales Ojeda, deputy prime minister of the Republic of Cuba, has called for discipline and responsible action in order to totally defeat the new Sars-CoV2 coronavirus pandemic.

On his official Twitter account, Morales Ojeda reiterated the need to continue with the established measures of social isolation, as well as compliance and the use of means of protection such as the naso-bucos (face-masks), even though until today in Cuba the curve of patients with the disease is below the favorable scenario.

"Today in #Cuba the scenario is favourable in the evolutionary curve of #COVID19 ; we must act responsibly and maintain the preventive measures to overcome the pandemic. #CubaPorLaSalud #CubaSalvaVidas @MINSAPCuba @BioCubaFarma @DiazCanelB", tweeted the Cuban deputy prime minister.
