Havana, Jul 4 (Prensa Latina) Cuban Foreign Minister Bruno Rodriguez today received the Minister of South African Presidency, Nkosazana Dlamini-Zuma, in this capital, with whom he discussed bilateral cooperation in several sectors and means to increase it.

According to a note published on the website of the Cuban Foreign Ministry, both agreed that relations between the two countries are in a good state.

During her work visit, Dlamini-Zuma, also in charge of Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation, will attend the commemorative act for the Centennial of the South African leader Nelson Mandela's birth.

On that occasion, there will be a farewell for 700 South African medical students finishing their fifth year in Cuba and returning to their country to conclude the specialty.
