
Cubans to Look Into Draft of New Constitution

01/08/2018

Havana, Jul 31 (Prensa Latina) The draft of the new Constitution will be submitted to popular consultation from August 13 to November 15, a process that would lead to the drawing up of a final text before being voted in a referendum for its approval.

Millions of Cubans from all sectors of the society are expected to issue criteria and proposals on the document, which would return to the National People's Power Assembly (Parliament) for the referendum.

If the project is approved by the population, the current Constitution in force since 1976 would be replaced.
