
Birth, marriage, and death certificates will not have an expiration date

29/02/2020

REPUBLICA DE CUBA
REGISTRO DEL ESTADO CIVIL
CERTIFICACION DE NACIMIENTO

53596

Para ser utilizada en:
Para surtir efecto en:

Territorio Nacional
 Otros países
previa legalización

EXENTA
GRAVADA
LEY No. 73 DE

INSCRIPCION
Tomo Folio
232 407

FECHA DE ASIENTO
Día Mes Año
4- 3- 1958-

Registro del Estado Civil de
Municipi: Agua de Azúcar provincia Matanzas

DATOS DE LA INSCRIPCION
(s) y apellidos: Yves de la Cruz
nacimiento: Agua de Azúcar
9-1952

CINCO PESOS
ONAT
ESPECIES TIMBRADAS

From now on, birth, marriage, and death certificates in Cuba will not have an expiration date, as established in the Extraordinary Official Gazette Number 9 of 2020, published by the Ministry of Justice of the Republic.

Also, some data appearing on marriage and death certificates have been eliminated.

The death certificate will not state the place of birth or the marital status of the deceased, and the marriage certificate will not contain the surnames of the parents of the bride and groom.

Only the certificate of unmarried status will be kept with an expiration date, which will be valid for 180 days.

The Resolution establishes that in all the certifications that are issued, a note will be added, stating that they do not have an expiration date.