
African American Anthropology Workshop and Story Tellers Festival in Havana

07/01/2015

Scholars, researchers, artists and performers are meeting in Old Havana from January 5th through 10th, coinciding with the 29th anniversary of Old Havana's House of Africa, and marking the beginning of cultural life in the city in 2015.

Scientific sessions are being held in the House of Africa, at the Benito Juárez , and the House of Asia. Meanwhile the Poetry House is the venue of the Storytellers Festival Afropalabra (Afroword). Exhibitions and other cultural proposals characterize the encounter, including the presentation of the Cabildo afrocubano in Saint Francis of Assisi Square on January 6, a traditional street dancer's party that delves into the roots of Afrodescendants from a contemporary outlook

Edited by Damian Donestevez
