Worldwide celebrations in overseas Vietnamese communities also saw various activities to mark President Ho Chi Minh's 125th birthday anniversary.

At the Vietnamese Embassy in New Delhi, an Indian delegation, led by President of the Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR) Lokesh Chandra, yesterday recalled memories of President Ho's visit to India in 1958.

The delegates said the leader's modesty and sincerity left a great impression on many Indians at that time.

Also, the Vietnamese embassy in the capital city of Pretoria, South Africa, hosted a cultural and sports exchange on Friday with ambassadors and diplomats from the embassies of ASEAN member countries, including Indonesia, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Singapore and Thailand.

That same day, the Vietnamese Cultural Centre in Paris, France organised a ceremony to mark 40 years since reunification day and the 125th birthday anniversary of the late President.

President Ho Chi Minh was born on May 19, 1890 in Kim Lien Commune, Nam Dan District, the central province of Nghe An.

He devoted his life to the national liberation cause, while tirelessly striving for peace and progress in the world. He also led the nation to success in the struggle for national independence and establishing the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam following the August Revolution in 1945. The president passed away in 1969.
