

More than 21,000 Paraguayans Treated by Cuban Eye Surgeons

20/05/2014

Center director Boris Carballo told local media in Asuncion about the free-of-charge eye treatment program underway in that nation, which has been welcomed by the Paraguayan people.

More than 50,000 Cuban health workers are currently offering their services in different countries of the world, while about one thousand Paraguayan young people have graduated from Cuban medical schools or are taking medicine courses on the island.

---