At Least 14 IS Jihadists Killed in Northern Syria

07/01/2016

SOHR said that the jihadists launched an offensive to regain control of the dam that is in the hands of the Syrian Democratic Forces, an armed coalition that consists of Kurds, Arabs and Assyrians.

The fighting between the two sides is accompanied by bombings that are believed to be by the U.S.-led international coalition.

The IS self-proclaimed a caliphate late in June 2014 in areas it dominates in Syria and Iraq.
